ALEXANDRIA, VA.

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1874.

The Richmond papers publish a call signed by upwards of one thousand citizens urging ex-Gov. Walker to permit his name to be used as a candidate to be voted for in the approaching Congressional Convention for that district, with which he complies, and says: "I can 'promise you if nominated I shall put forth my best efforts to secure the triumph of our party; and if elected, it will be my highest aim to faithfully represent the wishas and the interests of my constituents." On the other hand a conference of the Conservative citizens has been held and a petition drawn up and signed requesting the City Conservative Committee to postpone the primary election to some date later than that fixed; and a committee consisting of Judge Robert Ould, Judge W. W. Crump, Mr. Peter W. Grubbs, Gen. Peyton Wise. Captain W. C. Carrington, and Mr. T. W. McCance was appointed to confer with Col. John H. Guy, to urge him to declare himself a candidate for Congress. We hope that all differences in reference to a Conservative candidate in the Richmond District will be healed, and that by united and harmonious action, whoever may receive the nomination will be triumphantly elected. P. S. The committee have decided to post-

In the British House of Lords yesterday, Earl Russell asked whether the Government had made any remonstrance to France againtst the connivance of her authorities in the violation of Spanish frontier by Carlists. He especially referred to the rumors that the French Government had interfered with Spain in a manner contrary to the friendly relations of the law of pations; that Carlists escaping into France, instead of being returned, had been furnished with passports and permitted to cross and recross the frontier. He urged that in according an ordinary courtesy due from one civilized nation to another there should be no unnecessary delay in the tormal recognition of the Spanish Government by Great Britain. Lord Derby replied that Spain had not asked England to interfere. He considered the recognition of the Spanish Government at present premature. Hon. Ehomas Whitehead, of Amherst county, publishes, in the Lynchburg papers, a reply to the card of the State Conservative Executive Committee, condemning his course in reference to a nomination, in which he contends that the action of the committee is arbitrary and likely to injury his prospects, not only as a candidate but his standing as a representative. He therefore appeals from the decision of the committee to the Conservative party of his District, and adds: "My fealty to the party is known in every township; my voice has been heard in every election since the war for the party; for its nominees against Radicals and Independents, and will continue so to be heard no matter what is the result of this canvass." He then demands as a member of the Conservative party and as a representative of that party in Congress from the State of Virginia, that the committee annul and revoke "its unjust act | in charge of his captors. of condemnation."

In the French National Assembly yesterday, a motion was adopted, by a majority of 87, that the consideration of the constitutional bills be postponed until after recess. A motion by an Inperialist, and an industrial proprietor, that the Assembly, after voting the Budget, be prorogued until January 5th 1875, was declared urgent, and Tuesday next appointed for debate and the District of Columbia, of inducing imon the question. The general impression, it is stated, appeared to be in Paris that none of the constitutional bills are able to command a majority of the Assembly. The Right teared that the fate of their project would demonstrate the powerlessness of the Assembly, and render a dissolution inevitable, and they, therefore, voted for a postponement of the bills. The Left is deeply irritated at the result. President Mac-Mahon has congratulated Duke de Broglie on his speech on Thursday.

NEW YORK, July 24. - The Argus this afternoon publishes a supplementary statement from Theodore Tilton in the form of an interview chamberlains of the Pope, has been appointed with one of its reporters, in which Tilton says all the accounts of his cross-examination by the committee have been incorrect, one-sided and half malicious representations of him furnished to reporters by the counsel of the committee, for which the committee themselves are not responsible. The latter have a grave case on their hands and are wise enough to acknowledge its gravity, but their counsel are full of tricks and stratagems to belittle and distort it. They will in the end be the two worst beaten attorneys who ever conducted a case. They have made a hideous blunder in diverting their examination from the facts at issue into an injuiry into the names and characters of his (Tilton's) female acquaintances. This gives him the right to institute a counter inquiry into the standing of the ladies of Mr. Beecher's acquaintance. He informed the committee yesterday that he deprecated such a plan of battle, but if forced upon him by the committee's counsel he could draw a sword with two edges to their one. If this new aspect is to characterize the remainder of the controversy, it would be better for Beecher it he had never been born. Replying to the statement printed in this

Tilton said to the reporter: I wish you would do me the favor to say that though I have hitherto declined being interviewed concerning my appearance before the committee and have steadfastly remained silent concerning the proceedings in Tilton by her husband when very ill, afterwards the committee, yet the above report, coming as retracted at Mr. Beecher's request, and supit does from the committee's counsel, is an absolute fabrication. I told the committee dis- er gave up Mrs. Tilton's retraction. I asked that all these persons be Ovington said last night that he believed that produced before the committee. I asked, furthermore, for the privilege of being present to cross-examine Mr. Beecher and the other witnesses. I still further suggested that the case had come to be of such magnitude that it would be better for the committee to dismiss this informal examination, in which no one but myself has thus far spoken under oath, and adjourn to meet in court. I expressed a willingness to be sued for libel, or to be put in any The city of Montreal, has two-story street other way before a tribunal which could compel witnesses to testify under oath, and which could punish perjury with the State's prison. If this case, with all the facts which lie behind it, revealed or unrevealed, were now before a Criminal Court instead of a voluntary committee, and if Mr. Beecher's printed statement had been made under oath, subject to cross questioning and overthrow, he would indeed be compelled to "step down and out." I feel at liberty to speak freely, because Mr. Beecher's counsel have faisified me to the world, and I have no recourse but to smite them in the face.

The Beecher Examining Committee resumed their session this evening at the residence of Mr. Augustus Storrs, Brooklyn. Mrs. Oving top was examined at some length with refer ence to statements by Mrs. Titton to her and her busband. The committee refused all information relating to the investigation.

Mrs. Victoria Woodhuil has arrived. She declares that the statement attributed to her in themselves.

The New York Tribune of yesterday gives of Mr. Tilton : The several examinations of Mr. Tilton before the committee have been of a very searching character. One of the committee states that the intention was to make both Mr. Tilton's and Mr. Beecher's verbal explanations as full and complete as possible, and that Mr. Beecher would be subjected to a more rigorous examination than Mr. Tilton had been. fact. Mr. Beecher has been informed that he must prepare himself for a severe ordeal, as but his insinuations in his cross-examination, would be inquired into. The reputations of singular circumstances. On his first appearance before the committee he made the proposition that if Mr. Beecher would leave the pulpit and his sacred office, he from Spain that General Moriones has won a (Mr. Tilton) would submit a statement justifying him and setting all scandal at rest. The committee laughed at the proposition, and Mr. Tilton was provoked into alluding to Mr. Beecher as a coward. Mr. Sage, chairman of the committee, replied at once, "Whatever Mr. Beecher may be, sir, this committee is not composed of cowards. It intends to go to the bottom of this matter, and somebody will be hurt." It is believed that in the hope that Beecher would accept this offer, Tilton wrote the statement referred to by Mrs. Tilton as read to Mr. and Mrs. Ovington.

Subsequent examinations of Mr. Tilton were intended by Mr. Tracy, the lawyer of the committee, to break down his statement as to the an undertaking, are mading arrangements of a character of his ideal home before Mr. Beecher invaded it, and his own course of life for years previous to the alleged infidelity of his wife. He was asked concerning his alleged intimacy with four other women than Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull. These were named to him, but it is only proper to state publicly that they were represented to be lecturers and advocates of various reforms for women. Mr. Tilton was furious at being asked these "insulting questions," except in one instance where Mr. Tracy knew he was not guilty. This question Mr. Tilton answered with great grace by an explicit denial; but in every instance where the lawyer had evidence of the alleged infidelity, it was confirmed by Mr. Tiltou's falling into a rage. Among other questions, Mr. Tracy asked if Mr. Tilton's intimacy with public lecturers, speakers and women's rights reformers of the gentle sex had not greatly disturbed the peace of his home. He answered "O, yes; Elizabeth was very much approved that I ever should associate with such persons. She said they were not sound in theology; they were hereties and exercised bad influence on me. She talked very much about it and always opposed it. She hated, she said, 'such women as Mrs. Henry B. Stanton and Mrs. Woodhull.' She said 'they were on the wrong side always.' She feared I was going to be led as-

When asked as to the name of his correspondent whom he addressed as "his complaining friend" in a letter urging that the scanda should be forgotten, Mr. Tilton admitted there was no such friend, and that the letter was a device of his to quiet the scandal. NORFOLK, July 22 .- As I stated in my last letter, the Virginia Elucational Association, together with a large number of invited guests, were the recipients of a complimentary excur sion to Hampton, &c., on Friday last. Leaving the wharf here at 43 o'clock in the afternoon, we steamed down the Elizabeth, passed Fort Norfolk, Sewell's Point, and other points of interest, arriving in due time at the Normal School wharf, at Hampton, where we were met by Geu. Gen. Armstrong replied in a very elequent speech of some ten minutes or more. All were delighted with his manly outspoken words. He said that the school was intended, not for politicians or incendiaries, but for hard working colored men and women, whom they hoped to educate, so as to make them useful members of society, and not burdens, as they had too often become. He received as a most auspicious omen this visit of the educators of Virginia, and the pledge of sympathy just given by their President. At the close of his remarks Gen. A. was loudly applauded. We then returned to our boat and continued our journey to Fortress Monroe, where we inspected the grounds, fortifications, &c., and took a walk around the paraby their fellow citizens of other nationalities.

DEATH OF DOCTOR FRANCIS T. STRIBLING. Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock Doctor Francis Taliaferro Stribling, Superintendent of the Western Lunatic Asylum of Virginia, at Staunton, and perhaps more widely known than any other physician for the insane in this country, died at his residence in this city after a brief illness, surrounded by his family and friends. He was born in Staunton January 20th, 1810, and was in the 65th year of his age. He was educated at the University of Virginia, and was the first Medical graduate of that institution, and afterwards graduated at the Medical college of Philadelphia. In 1836, at the early age of twenty-six years, he was elected Physician to the Western Lunatic Asylum by the Board, of which the late John H. Peytou was President, taking the place of his old preceptor, Dr. Boys, the first physician, who was a distinguished graduate of the University of JULIA A.
